Not so, he was actually reciting a famous quote from the singer. "Elvis wasn't just an entertainer; he was a voice of the civil rights movement," Obama said Tuesday while honoring the musician during a White House ceremony. "He stood up and said, 'Wait a minute. We may be treated like a certain group of people, but we are in fact an American group. We should be treated like everyone else.'" That simple phrase — "We are all one" — is the best-known quotation from the Bible, but Obama's paraphrase of it reflects a widespread belief that Elvis Presley was far more 570a42141b
