Along Came A Spider Finding A Baby Born With Birthmark Sarah (Diamond) - 1st May 2016 Do you have an interesting birth or adoption story you want to share? We'd love to hear it. Thanks to the care of Sarah and Chris Diamond, a baby girl was born earlier this year with a rare birthmark that could be a sign of Trisomy 18. As the happy mum and dad reported on Facebook, they had to get the birthmark checked out, and although they're over the moon about their baby girl, they're keen to share the story as it's an important one. Sarah said: We were fortunate enough to be in hospital with our first daughter when her precious little heart stopped - luckily we caught it quickly and after CPR it was back to life. Upon arrival to the hospital - we did see a little tiny circle of pink which we thought was nothing more than the cuties little pink spot she was born with. After a discussion with the midwife and our local family doctor, we were referred to Specialist Children's Hospital in Liverpool. After meeting with their 'Paediatrician' we were informed the circle was in fact a bit of a rare and quite scary birthmark. I am so grateful to Chris and Sarah for sharing this - it doesn't take away the fact they are absolutely ecstatic with their daughter, but we hope she gets to meet some super keen mums and dads and get a little bit of advice on the beauty side of things :) Like many parents who are lucky enough to get first-hand experience of the special moments surrounding the birth of their children, Sarah can't help but be touched by the experiences. She said: I cannot express enough how grateful we are to everyone who offered support and advice during our time of loss - your kindness is
