- OmgOmgYEAH! The Smurfs. You're finally here. - We will add a minigame, You will not play, but you will be able to control the character. Preorder on: Join us in Discord: - We will have full English subtitle - Thank you for the support in our channel! - You will be able to communicate with us! The Gameplay: - You will play only through the dialogue of the characters - The character has been developed with the maximum detail, a lot of pictures have been painted on the characters, as if we made it ourselves. - The scripts for the episodes are written in the most simple way, and we sometimes go even beyond this... - We tried to be as realistic as possible, as well as possible without getting in the way of this universe, of course, we will change them if necessary. This series I took on for you few days, but I can not live without telling you. The Captain of the Smurfs is an exploration game of surreal adventure and humor that mix a very wide range of emotions, with very powerful characters very feminine and deep. Welcome to the second part of the Review for the first episode of The Smurfs Adventure. In Episode 1 we saw the mysterious introduction of the Narrator Smurf and this was the last episode of the first season of the saga. The strange, sorry, the strange intro of the Narrator Smurf will delight the viewers to watch the second season of The Smurfs and will bring some revelations to the viewers. And also, the second season brings in new characters of this universe and we must bear in mind that they will make a higher impact in the second season of the saga. Gameplay: Despite being a little bit more stylized, the gameplay, as all the other episodes of The Smurfs, is constituted by four different playable characters with their own missions and objectives. The gameplay of the episode is also composed of four sections according to the different branches of the narration: - The first section is the "Escape from the village." It consists of an underground exploration made in a corridor, where the player must find weapons and solve a puzzle. - The second section is the "The World of Smurfs" and

Fun is the keyword when it comes to the Kayak Pack! This is all about Kayaking with Santa! This festive season, you get to test your casting in Santa's Sleigh, what other legendary kayaks cannot offer you! Santa's Kayak is based on the original Kayak Pack released by Raph Koster in December 2017. New for this season is Santa's Kayak and Santa's Sleigh. Santa's Kayak is a popular white version of the original Kayak Pack, packed with tons of holidays themed additional features. Santa's Kayak is an official release of the Kayak Pack, allowing you to get the same contents as the original in addition to the new Santa's Kayak Pack. At the same time, Santa's Sleigh is an official release of the Santa's Sleigh Pack by adding a festive and festive design. Santa's Kayak and Santa's Sleigh are both accurate recreation of the original products, just to bring you full experience of Santa's Kayak and Santa's Sleigh, and to make your fishing even more exciting. The entire Kayak Pack is the official product release of Fishmonger. The Kayak Pack includes Santa's Kayak and Santa's Sleigh, available for 1, 2 or 3 characters. The original Kayak Pack was released on December 2017 with Santa's Sleigh being available on a limited basis, until January 2018 when Santa's Kayak was released. Santa's Kayak: Santa's Kayak is a beautiful white and gray design of a real kayak. Santa's Kayak is a fun-to-use kayak that floats on water when used, allowing you to get to distant places with Santa's Kayak and Santa's Sleigh. Santa's Kayak can also be disassembled and packed into Santa's Sleigh. Santa's Kayak can go deeper and further than other kayaks, and the kayak itself is made of high-quality material that's both lightweight and durable. When you are on a trip in Santa's Kayak, the Santa's Sleigh will always carry you where you want to go. Santa's Kayak is offered with Santa's Sleigh in all models of character slots. What's new:

Many of today's motor gliders get their sound in a post-glider, a strongly modified single seat aircraft with a reasonable size but kitey handling and lots of sound and power of the motor. Many of these models have a high-wing for more lift/less drag, which a glider pilot wears very well. A single seat glider should show about the same power level as a 1 seat RC glider. Most modern gliders without a glider license do not show much of the glider performance with high wings. The reason for this is the airspeed. The following example from the factory manual and flight manuals of some popular and high-profile aircraft should explain the problem. You may ask why the power level isn't constant, more or less as the airspeed changes? The answer is that the wind speed is constantly changing the airspeed and the lift on a glider wing versus drag. It is way simpler to find out the maximum power for a glider if you use glider performance, but more sophisticated or sophisticated if you use just a motor with a fixed power. The manual for the Cirrus SR20 says: "In normal flight, a landing gear strut is situated just forward of the propeller. This is most likely to cap a nose-high attitude on landing, and may cause the airplane to bounce as it comes to a stop. It should be released or else the airplane may stall as it approaches the ground." This type of problem has brought post-glider makers to improve the design and keep the peak power from windmilling. So if your wind gust is from the rear, you will notice much lower power is needed if the winds are from the nose, but the same if the winds are from the tail. The most popular glider pilot often find the nose-highness of a glider in the last seconds of a glide to be the most satisfying flight. Through practice and experience, the best and fastest pilots, with hours of flight, are able to navigate their glider with minimum power and still keep the nose-high attitude. The Cirrus SR20 with homebuilt glass nose has a rather lightweight glass, with no engine fairing. From my experience of flying a popular high-wing sailplane, the most tricky manoeuvres are on approach, while the safest glide configuration is on crosswind or downwind. Here are some parameters to be most careful on power. The Hirth SE/AéroFoil H
