TubeBuddy is an amazingly performing tool that will give access to a whole optimization plan, offering suggestions for you to get better and grow your channel. The Chrome extension gives you access to all the Pro features the web app has integrated. Although pretty large for an extension, once you start using it, you will understand why you need it. Auditing your account Upon installing the Chrome extension, you will have to register with your Google account to have access to the features the web-based service offers. Also, adding one or more YouTube accounts is mandatory for you to see what the TubeBuddy service has available. It has plenty of important functionalities such as health report analytics, valuation and suggestions on how much to charge, how you are situated in the market, search rank tracking, and much more. The tool is always available on YouTube for you to use. Analytics on videos that have the TubeBuddy icon will make information available in one place, alongside all the details you need. Another important trait of the TubeBuddy service is that it feels like having a personal assistant who is guiding you, checking your work, and making you feel proud of your improvements (there is an implemented gamification strategy that is conducted based on your achievements, on your personal milestones). Optimization at its finest After giving you insights about your channel and its performance, you will be prompted with suggestions on how to improve, comparative analysis with the market and with your direct competitors, thumbnail comparative analysis, videos topic planner, compiled keyword tags that you might want to use in your channel, strategy tips to help you find what is the best time to post, and many others. The service will even enable access to advanced research strategies such as A/B testing on videos, keywords, best-performing content, thumbnails. Additionally, you will have access to the keyword explorer it does the research for you and, based on a given score, tells you what to add and how to improve. Another important part of the solution offered by TubeBuddy is the retention strategy planner meant to help you keep existing rankings and all you have achieved. Conclusion To conclude, if you have a YouTube channel and don't know where to start, TubeBuddy is the answer. Install the Chrome extension, connect your account to their database, and start accessing these amazing features to see all the optimization strategies you are missing. YouTube Not Working? Try these three things Most modern browsers will automatically show errors for sites that don't load. If you 2edc1e01e8

It is a time when people are either waking up to the fact that it is 2019, or waking up to the fact that it is the start of a new year, but either way, it is a time of transition. If you work in the service industry, then you will be delighted to hear that we know what you are going through, as we have a bit of experience in this, too. We have worked hard to gather lots of tips and tricks for the new year, and we thought you might find them useful. 1. Refine your branding If you work in a service industry, then you should be aware of the fact that people are very picky. If you want to attract new customers, then you need to be sure that you are offering a stellar customer service experience. There are lots of things you can do to make this happen, such as providing professional phones, having top-notch customer service skills, having a good product or service, and so on. However, if you want to stand out, then you should make sure that your branding is on point. Think about how you can improve upon the quality of the branding you have now. How can you improve it? If you already have professional logo designs, then you should try to make these look even better. If you don't have a logo, then you can always have something printed and designed. There are lots of things you can do, and you should never shy away from trying new things. In fact, trying new things is what will set you apart from the competition and help you stand out. This is exactly what you need to be doing. If you aren't already, you need to start experimenting with the use of different types of fonts, different color palettes, and other things like this.
